

UNLOADS QUICKLY enough but the only trouble was that the truck hadn't arrived at its destination. The unloading was somewhat unexpected altho anyone who travels U.S. 30 in the Lincoln Estates area knows that it's high crown and sloped edges make it treacherous enough under any conditions but it is especially hazardous when the pavement is wet as it was on Wednesday of last week. The truck, heading west, and driven by Raymond Perdue, 28, of Kankakee, started sliding when Perdue applied the brakes because a car was halted ahead of him to make a turn off the highway at about 82nd ave. The car was driven by Alfred Mitchell, 65, of Rt. 3, Naperville. Perdue steered off the highway. The truck plowed a couple of furrows in the ditch and flipped off two spools of steel, visible on the lawn at the right. Each spool was said to weigh 13,000 pounds. Miller was reported to have suffered minor injuries and his car badly damaged. (Graphic Newspapers photo)

Area Schools To Start Year's Work Next Week

Next week will see the beginning of the 1965-66 school in for Lincoln-Way high and the underlying grade school districts.

Lincoln-Way and Ann Rutledge grade school, the latter of Lincoln Estates, will open their doors Wednesday, Sept. 1.

Tuesday, Aug. 31, is the beginning of the new term in Mokena, Arbary Hills, Frankfort and New Lenox.

Freshmen will report at Lincoln-Way at 8 a.m. Sept. 1 for half a day. All students will report at the same hour Sept. 2 for half a day. Sept. 3 will be the first full day of school.

Pupils of Ann Rutledge will be in school from 9 a.m. to noon on Sept. 1; the first full day of classes will be Sept. 2.

At Frankfort will report at 9 o'clock the morning of Aug.

31 for a half-hour session, with Sept. 1 being a full day.

Arbary Hills will have classes from 9 to 11 a.m. Aug. 31, with school operating on full schedule Sept. 1. It will be similar at New Lenox except that classes will run from 8:45 to 10:30 next Tuesday.

At Mokena classes on Aug. 31 will report at 1 p.m. for a short session and go on full time Sept. 1.

Crushed To Death When Auto Falls Off Jacks

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at Oak Lawn for an Arbary Hills resident, Allen E. Milhan, 42, victim of an accident at his home last Saturday (Aug. 21).

Mr. Milhan, a truck driver, was working on the family car last Saturday at his home, 9436 Hickory st. He had the vehicle jacked up and was working beneath it. The jacks slipped and the car fell on Milhan.

The accident occurred about 2 p.m. The Frankfort fire department ambulance took the victim to Silver Cross hospital at Joliet where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Removal was to the Lawn chapel at Oak Lawn where services were conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday with the Rev. Trevis C. Calvert officiating. Interment was in Mt. Hope cemetery, Chicago.

Besides his wife, Geraldine, Mr. Milhan is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Mary Coty, his mother, Mrs. Janet Hussey, a brother Robert, and a sister, Mrs. Dorothy Jones.

Knieriem To Build Workshop On Wolf Road

The Will county board of supervisors has approved the recommendation of the county zoning board of appeals to classify a piece of property owned by Casimir Wlock, off Wolf rd., Mokena, as B-1-c.

The K & K Well Drilling and Pump Service is to erect a workshop and storage building at the rear of a portion of the property. Originally Wlock asked to have the entire piece, which is on the east side of Wolf rd., south of Maple street as I-1 (light industry).

Four Boys Start Fire In Farm Barn On 191st St.

Four boys, ranging in age from six to 11, were picked up by Mokena Police Chief Roy Newton within 15 minutes after they had set a barn on fire on the former Lauffer farm east of Mokena on 191st st. at 104th ave.

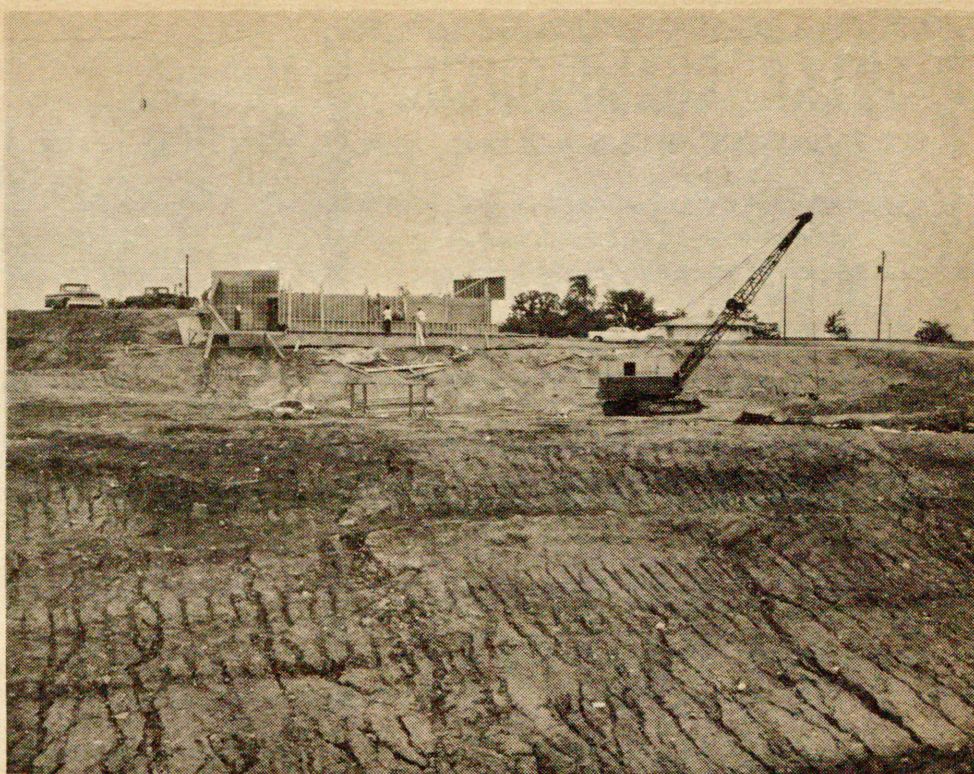

The youngsters reside in Arbary Hills. Three of them are brothers. They said they got the matches from a box on a counter at a gasoline station but had no explanation as why they started the fire.

The Mokena fire department was called about 12:15 by Mrs. Harry Yunker, who lives across the road and west of the farm. She saw smoke coming out of the building. Firemen said her prompt action in giving the alarm enabled them to quench the blaze before it could get a good start. A quantity of hay was in the barn and some pigs, the property of Mr. Yunker, who has been renting the barn for storage.

Fires were started at several points in the barn, several of them in the section housing the pigs. There was an old sow in the lot with a litter of young pigs and Chief Newton remarked that the youngsters were fortunate that she did not take alarm and attack them.

The boys fled the scene and made off east thru a bean field for U.S. 45. They were seen to emerge from the field and quickly apprehended. The case was turned over to the sheriff's office.

LOOKING NORTH toward Francis road at the point where that thoroughfare is being raised to pass over I-80, when I-80 is built. The state did not see fit to build a bypass so Francis road could be used while the work is going on so Francis is closed. There is a bypass on Wolf rd. where that highway will cross I-80 north of Mokena. The piers for the bridge on Wolf road aren't finished but the concrete has been poured for the approaches leading to it. (Graphic Newspapers photo)

Sees Federal Aid As Key To Cultural Treasures

An educational and cultural program for Mokena is envisioned by the grade school board, School Supt. James Ennis told the Mokena Chamber of Commerce at its regular meeting last Thursday night.

The cost of such a program, he said, would be provided thru federal grants as a result of recent legislation by congress.

There are five titles covered by this legislation and money is available thru each of them, it was said, but the Mokena school board is counting mostly on Title 3--supplemental cultural centers.

School administrators and educators have only just finished a workshop where for three weeks they learned to make applications for the grants possible under the several titles.

The five titles are:

1. - Children who come from low income families ($2,000 yearly income or less) and those getting aid as dependent children.
2. - Improvement of library service.
3. - Supplemental cultural centers.
4. - Research at university level.
5. - Improvement at state level.

All projects will be administered by state education agencies, M. Ennis said. "The Mokena board of education is especially excited about Title 3," he told Chamber members, "but will apply for several of these titles. Our idea is what we call an 'educational campus plan'."

"Willowcrest school, with about 25 acres surrounding it, is right in the center of this area. We would like to develop a campus plan of schools in that area. We would like to make this the educational hub for this community, for all boys and girls in the area, for adult education and an educational park for everyone.

"When, and if, we get some of this federal aid it will be shared by all children in the community, including parochial school pupils. What we are planning is mainly school buildings altho there will be picnic facilities and an arboretum. We think the supplementary cultural center, if our request for such aid is approved, would do some of the following things:

- "1. - Provide space for a library, for children and adults.
- "2. - Provide a model auditorium with enough seats for audiences coming to attend plays, symphonies and other concerts. It could have rooms available for certain types of adult education, for which I have had numerous requests. The building could be used by the Chamber of Commerce, the Garden club, Woman's club, Book club and other community organizations.

"There are so many things this building could do to raise the cultural level of the community that it is hard to enumerate them. Our children are not now - to some extent - getting such privileges and will not for many years, if we must pay the cost locally."

This federal aid is not new, Ennis said, pointing out that when Frankfort grade school built its gymnasium sometime ago it was with the aid of PWA. Libraries exist in many areas, he declared, because of federal funds.

"We are not sure that we will be accepted," Ennis stated, "but if we aren't nothing will be lost except the time in preparing the request."

It was explained that if the district can find enough indigent children to qualify for a grant under Title 1 use of the money is not restricted to improve their lot -- if the money is available it can be used for all children.

Supt. Ennis said the board of education hopes to get federal aid "to round out our cultural and learning opportunities and make available to this area a lot of the things it now lacks."

Garden Club To Stage Fall Show In VFW Hall

The August meeting of the Mokena Garden club was held at the VFW hall on Wolf road. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Don Guendling and Mrs. John Hubler.

Plans and assignments were made for the fall flower show and exhibit to be held at the VFW hall Sept. 14 and 15. This is the Mokena Garden Club's first flower show and exhibit to be open to all to participate in, and it will be judged by nationally accredited judges.

Club members gave a report on the care of the various evergreen and floral plantings that had been assigned to them during the summer and fall season.

Members take turns watering and weeding the plantings around the post-office and railroad depot.

Plans were discussed for future plantings to help beautify Mokena.

The ladies of the William Martin Post #725 auxiliary, will have a card party Saturday, Aug. 28, starting at 8 p.m. The hostesses will be Mrs. Glen Burkett, Mrs. Harold Seal and Mrs. George Walsh. The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Rudolph Engelhardt represented the Mokena area at the Illinois State Library Workshop for public librarians in Champaign Aug. 9 to 13.

A two-day rummage sale will be held by the Susannah Circle of the Methodist church Thursday, Aug. 26 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Friday, Aug. 27 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The sale will be held in the church parlors.

Helen Churchill and Rita Schickling won the balls last Thursday for the Willow Run Ladies' Golf club with a net 37 and net 41, respectively. Rita had tied with Helen Pagoria and Dorothy Tyler, but won the draw. Grace Mitchell and Rita Schickling tied for lowest putts for the day, with Grace winning the draw.

Helen Churchill defeated Helen Pagoria in their match game. The real exciting match this month was played by Esther Hug and Dorothy Tyler. Esther Hug chipped in on #9 thus winning not only the hole but also the match. Some tension, huh Girls?

The buffet bridge groups met Sunday evening, Aug. 22 with Trish and Leo Marcoux as host and hostess along with Toot and Bill Muehler pinchhitting for Billie and John Kreisle. Marge Is-tel won 1st prize. Other winners were Toot and Bill Muehler, Lois Shewski, and George Helgersen. Toot Muehler and Leo Marcoux were the lucky door prize winners donated by Jim and Angie Surovick.

Scouting Plans Air Jamboree

Several hundred Boy Scouts, Explorers, and adult leaders of the Boy Scouts of America who operate licensed amateur radio stations will take part in the eighth Jamboree-on-the-Air over the weekend of Oct. 16-17. Hundreds of others in Scouting, not licensed ham operators, will talk to brother Scouts around the world on those days.

This year's program is dedicated to International cooperation in tribute to the International Cooperation Year. And this year, while chatting about their normal Scouting activities, a new element has been added. The United States for the first time will be host to a Boy Scouts World Jamboree scheduled for Aug. 1 to 9, 1967 at Farragut State Park in Idaho. Here some of the world's Scout ham operators will be able to meet face-to-face and man the jamboree's own shortwave station.

The object of the Jamboree - on - the - Air is to introduce scouts to amateur radio and to electronics, generally by letting them talk or listen to other scouts. This promotes a deeper understanding of the reality of the world brotherhood of scouting.

Last year, it is estimated some 50,000 Boy Scouts and some Girl Scouts or Guides took part in the Jamboree-on-the-Air from 2,000 ham operated stations in 70 countries. There are now 84 countries who are members of the Boy Scouts World Conference.

A participation certificate will be issued to anyone who reports his activity as a ham, a listener, or a visitor to a ham station jamboree program. Reports from the United States may be sent to VE3WSB, the Boy Scouts World Bureau, 77 Metcalfe Street, Ottawa 4, Canada, or to K2BFW, the Boy Scouts of America national station in the Johnston Historical Museum at New Brunswick, N.J. 08903.

Many Scouts have been encouraged to qualify for their amateur radio licenses as a result of the Jamboree-on-the-Air. Troops in many parts of the world continue to exchange correspondence and swap scout badges.

The eighth Jamboree-on-the-Air begins at 0001 GMT, Saturday, Oct. 16, and ends at 2359 GMT, Sunday, Oct. 17. Scouts and former scouts, hams or not, may participate.

Participants call "CQ Jamboree" or answer that call. Non-hams obtain cooperation of licensed hams for the event as FCC regulations must be met.

The Boy Scouts World Bureau Station VE3WSB in Ottawa, Canada, and K2BFW, the Boy Scouts of America station for the Boys' Life Amateur Radio Club, New Brunswick, N.J., will be on the air.

K2BFW will be on 3,560 kc., 7,050 kc., and 14,110 kc., all cw., and the following phone frequencies, depending upon conditions: 15-meter band, 21,300 kcs; 20-meter band, 14,300 kcs; 40-meter band, 7,290 kcs; 80-meter band, 3,950 kcs.

Cookout combo... New Gas grill and yardlight

Real open-flame flavor and friendly gas glow teamed up for great cookouts!

Here's a combo that's really catching on. A gas yardlight to keep the party glowing, and a gas grill to give steaks, roasts and chicken that wonderful open-flame flavor.

This easy-to-use gas grill gives you three-position burner control of gas-fired ceramic coals for all outdoor cooking. Just light it, and pronto, you're "in business."

No starter fluid to buy. No messy charcoal. No clean-up problems either because a new gas grill practically cleans itself.

You can get the grill separately if you want. But you'll soon see the light.

Here's Chance To Get Facts On 30-Inch Rows For Corn And Beans

Farming with 30-inch corn and soybean rows is the talk of all corn-belt farmers today. The public is invited to a Will County farm management tour on Sept. 8 beginning at 12:30 p.m. on the Francis Johnston farm to see narrow-row corn and soybeans. This 800-acre, two-man farm, is located six miles east of Wilmington on the Peotone blacktop, then two miles south or five miles north from Warner's bridge which is between Kankakee and Wilmington. This farmer has switched to narrow rows this year. He is enrolled in Northeastern Farm Bureau Farm Management Association, so has farm records to show where he stands in relation to other farms similar to his. Visitors should get information to help them decide whether narrow rows will pay. The tour is sponsored by the Northeastern Farm Bureau Management Service and the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service Will County.

Johnston has had many years of experience with growing corn with high plant populations. His corn yields on his medium grade soil have climbed from 100 to 135 bushels per acre since 1960, so in 1965 he decided he would need to go to a 30-inch rows if he was to get the most out of his land and the hybrid varieties adapted to thick planting.

Visitors will hear Johnston tell how he selects the top yielding hybrids and see what corn planted at 30,000 plants per acre looks like. All fields have 21,000 or more plant populations. Farm Bureau Farm Management fieldman Donald Muehling and Will county farm adviser Andy Wicklein will lead the tour and discuss the cost and returns on this farm.

Johnston is using an 8-row, 30-inch planter that he adapted from his 6-row planter purchased last year. He also adapted his front-mounted cultivator into an 8-row cultivator. He is now installing a new continuous flow grain-drying system set up at his corn storage site.

D. F. Wilken, farm management extension specialist from the University of Illinois will be present to discuss trends in organization of profitable grain farms. Wilken observes costs and returns from farm records of farmers from all over the state. He states that changes are developing rapidly and farmers who study their records and visit with successful farm operators stand the best chance of making the right decision.

TWO TENANTS move into the commercial building erected by Clyde Yunker, plumbing and heating contractor, at 19843 Wolf rd., Mokena. Yunker has partitioned the building so that the south half has become office space. James Hearns, accountant, and K & K Well Drilling and Pump Service, operated by Raymond Knieriem, have installed their offices there. A reception room serves both offices. Yunker has reserved approximately 2,500 square feet of floor space for his shop and display room.

Window Peeper Brings Police To High School

When Carl Robert Haack, of the custodial staff of Carl Sandburg high school looked out of a window of the school Monday night he saw a face looking in.

It was a hairy face, and there was a well developed chin beard. Some colleges have students that look like that, according to newspaper pictures of campus demonstrations and some high schools have been afflicted with beatnik types but Sandburg high isn't one of them.

Mr. Haack knew that it wasn't any Sandburg student that was either early or late in coming to register so he went to the front door with the idea of going out for a better look.

But when he came to the door it was to find that visitor too had moved and was there gazing thru the glass.

"Hmm," said Mr. Haack and went to a telephone to dial Orland Park police.

Orland Park has a communications control center at the village hall and all calls to the various departments and officials are answered there and then transferred to the agency or person called. Mrs. Lois Garman was on duty.

"This is the village hall," she answered, "Can I help you?"

"I hope so," responded Mr. Haack, "There is a goat looking at me thru a window at Carl Sandburg high school."

It was now Mrs. Garman's turn to say, "Hmm."

"Did you say ghost or goat?"

"Goat," said Mr. Haack firmly, "a billy goat and I would like it if the police came and took him away."

The call was transferred to Orland Park police and Officer John Quinlan was dispatched to the scene.

"It was a billy goat, alright," the officer reported later, "a big white, billy goat with what appeared to be a very efficient set of horns and a beard way down to here."

Quinlan approached the goat, engaging in light conversation in a soothing tone, hoping to calm the animal in case it was nervous. The goat took a step backward and lowered his head, but facing the door.

"I was afraid he might go thru the glass," said Quinlan, "so I stopped."

The goat, apparently deciding it was better outside than inside turned and trotted off.

The two men let him trot. If they caught him they had problems. Mr. Haack felt sure that school officials would take a dim view of taking a goat in the building for the night. Officer Quinlan felt certain that village officials would not appreciate the results of what one might expect if one were to wrestle a lively goat into submission and chuck him into a squad car.

"No doubt," said Officer Quinlan, "this goat has heard about Mary's little lamb that has gotten so much space for following her to school and was picketing here for equal time."

The goat could solve all problems by just going home. He had been tied up but chewed thru the rope, a piece of which is still about his neck.

Apparently this is the same goat that made a visit to All Saints Lutheran church last Friday night. Mrs. Garman had a call then too.

The man who called said that he had found a billy goat in the vestibule. The man informed that there would be no services until Sunday and the animal went away. However, it did not come back on Sunday. At least no one reported seeing it.

(Editor's note: The goat was reported caught and was tied up back of the high school Tuesday morning. If he doesn't chew thru that rope maybe they can keep him long enough for the owner to claim him or else turn him over to the S.P.O.W. B.G. Inc. (Society for the Preservation of Wandering Billy Goats, Incorporated)

Mokena C. Of C. Members Apparently Satisfied, Questionnaire Shows

As a whole the membership of the Mokena Chamber of Commerce is pretty well satisfied with the way things are going, according to the response to a questionnaire circulated recently by Frank Grey, president of the organization. Mr. Grey reported on the outcome of this survey at the regular meeting of the Chamber last Thursday night.

Approximately 45 per cent of the questionnaires sent out were filled out and returned, he said, and all were in favor of continuation of the Chamber of Commerce.

Continued participation in the Fourth of July Festival by the Chamber also received a 100% endorsement.

Ninety - two percent favored continuation of the Chamber's office on Front st. and the employment of an executive secretary. Only 3% were opposed 5% were indifferent.

Seventy - five per cent were opposed to a different meeting place with 20% for a move and 5% indifferent; 70% were in favor of meeting on the same night as now -- Thursday, and 80% of those answering favored night meetings rather than at noon and only 10% favored dinner sessions.

Half of those replying to the questionnaire were opposed to more social event; 25% were in favor of more such action and 25% didn't care one way or the other. That the annual Outstanding Citizen Award dinner is popular with the membership is attested by the fact that 92% of the replies received by Grey favored the continuation of such program; 86% also registered in favor of continuing with the annual dinners.

Apparently the membership does not care for golf as 33% voted against having a golf outing as opposed to 25% in favor of it; 42% didn't answer.

Only 4% favored holding a general election of officers now as opposed to 75% against such a move; 21% didn't answer.

Fifty per cent of those answering went on record as willing to become stockholders in a Chamber of Commerce sponsored industrial park; 25% were opposed to the proposal and 25% did not answer.

Seventy - five per cent believe increased annexation would improve Mokena and 5% felt it wouldn't help; 20% didn't answer.

And as far as the question of whether to open membership in the Chamber of Commerce to any resident who is interested in promoting Mokena is concerned sentiment is exactly divided -- 50% favor it, 50% oppose it.

Needham Retires Aug. 31 As Rock Island Official

F. Berle Needham, assistant to vice president - finance, Rock Island Lines, is retiring Aug. 31 after 46 years of service. Paul C. Major, vice president - finance, announced today.

Mr. Needham was born in Mountain Grove, Mo., on August 17, 1900, and went to work for the Rock Island as an extra clerk in the master mechanic's office in Herington, Kan., on September 22, 1919.

Subsequently, he held various positions in the railroad's accounting office in Topeka, Kan., from September, 1923, until April, 1933, when he was transferred to Chicago.

In January, 1949, he was appointed traveling accountant. Promotions then followed rapidly. In March, 1951, he was made chief of accounts and headed the statistical department; auditor of disbursements in November, 1952, and assistant general auditor in November, 1957.

Arbury Hills Teachers Will Report Aug. 30

The teachers of the Arbury Hills school, Summit Hill District 161, will return to school on Monday, Aug. 30. This day will be an in-service program. The teachers will be busy with orientation, new programs and conferences thruout the day.

The children will return at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 31. After room assignments and organization, school will be dismissed at 10:30 a.m.

Under a new board ruling those children who stay for lunch that are not qualified to ride the bus will be charged for the services of lunch room supervision.

The following charges may be paid at the school office between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 3:30 p.m., Monday thru Friday. The book rental is $9 for the first thru the fourth grades; $10 for the fifth thru eighth grades. The bus fare is $4.50 for one child in the family, $6 for two children, $7.50 for three children, and $9 for four or more. The lunch service charge is (per family) $9 annually, $1.25 monthly, 50 cents weekly, and 25 Cents daily.

The bus will follow the same schedule as last year until further notice.

BERLE NEEDHAM

He was elected general auditor by the board of directors in May, 1962, and has been assistant to vice president - finance since May of this year.

Last April he was elected assistant supervisor of Frankfort township.

All first graders and fifth graders need a physical and dental examination before entering school.

Hog Raisers Form Council

Several Will county swine producers organized a swine council recently. The following producers were elected to the governing board. Fred Francis, Wilmington, chairman; Leo Bernhard, Elwood, vice-chairman; George Archibald, New Lenox, secretary; Bob Reiter, New Lenox, treasurer. The directors selected were: Art Mark, Frankfort; Maurice Soucie, Peotone; Willard Rowley, Lockport and Ramon Schifler, Manhattan.

The group will meet quarterly following each meeting of the state association. Vice president Bernhard will be the representative on the state board.

No name was chosen for the group as hog producers from neighboring counties are invited to join.

Junior College

The junior college question is apt to become a major one in the near future.

With Gov. Kerner having signed a bill governing the setting up of junior college districts it appears that everyone is getting into the act.

The law provides for the establishment of junior college districts on local levels. Such districts would be separate governing bodies, with their own boards, tax rates and bonding powers. That is the way to establish a Class 1 district.

Those planning districts, of course, plan to be in Class 1. A Class 1, district, it was explained, can get 50 per cent of the operational cost from the state and 75 per cent of the cost of the building program from the state and federal governments.

Naturally, district planners want as broad a tax base as possible and the more industrial property it can encompass the higher the valuation and the higher the valuation the lower the tax rate. That is the generally accepted theory, at least, that if the valuation is high enough it doesn't require as high a tax rate to raise x-number of dollars in revenue as if the valuation is lower.

The Joliet township high school board which has been operating the junior college there -- incidentally the Joliet junior college was the first to be established in the nation -- had set up a 25-cent tax rate, as permitted by law, and thus lay the foundation for a Class 1 junior college district. The board was prepared to withdraw as the governing body of the district. An independent board was to be elected and the junior college would be on its own.

However, a petition asking that a referendum be held was filed with the high school board and Sept. 7 set as the date on which the voters of the Joliet high school district will decide whether a separate tax be imposed to operate the junior college.

If the tax is approved the election of a junior college board would be the next step and the junior college district formed.

As previously stated, forming such districts is likely to be quite a chore as no doubt many persons will have many views on the subject.

What territory would be included and what assurance would an area have of representation on the board are two of the questions that probably would get quite a working over before any final action was taken.

We assume that the law permits an organized junior college district to annex adjacent territory. If that is the case it is likely that a Joliet district would seek to take in as much of Will county as it could. But it will have to hurry.

There are numerous potential junior college districts also reported to have designs on portions of Will county. Kankakee is said to be eying some of the south sections while Bloom of Chicago Heights appears to be a natural hookup for eastern Will county communities. It is also reported that Morris is eying pieces of western Will county but it will have to move fast, our intelligence operatives say, to block off Ottawa, which has an eastern expansion in mind. Aurora would like to include Plainfield in its college district, it is said, and there is excellent reason for it to do so. Plainfield has a couple of distilling plants and a glass factory included in its valuation and as industry appears to beget industry it is quite likely Plainfield will have more in the not too distant future.

So one can see that the Joliet junior college has its work cut out if it is to succeed in piling up a large valuation. It's chief prize, of course, would be the Lockport area plus the piece of DuPage township that contains the Pure Oil Co. refinery. The Texas Oil refinery at Lockport is a nice addition to any valuation and there is other industry there too.

The Lockport township high school district voters approved a tax several years ago which pays tuition for high school graduates at the junior college of their choice. One does not need to have attended Lockport high school to qualify for such privilege. A graduate from any high school living in Lockport township is entitled to junior college tuition. Most of the Lockport students who go to junior college have chosen Joliet so it is not expected the people there would oppose joining a Joliet based junior college district.

The natural inclination of students from the Lincoln-Way high school district who attend junior college is to go to Joliet. Whether this would hold true if it were decided to establish a junior college campus on the far west side of Joliet -- out in the neighborhood of Troy -- is another question. New Lenox students probably would still favor Joliet, it being closer.

If the Joliet voters beat the proposed junior college tax then the only way it could form a district, it was said, would be to start from scratch -- abandoning its present set up.

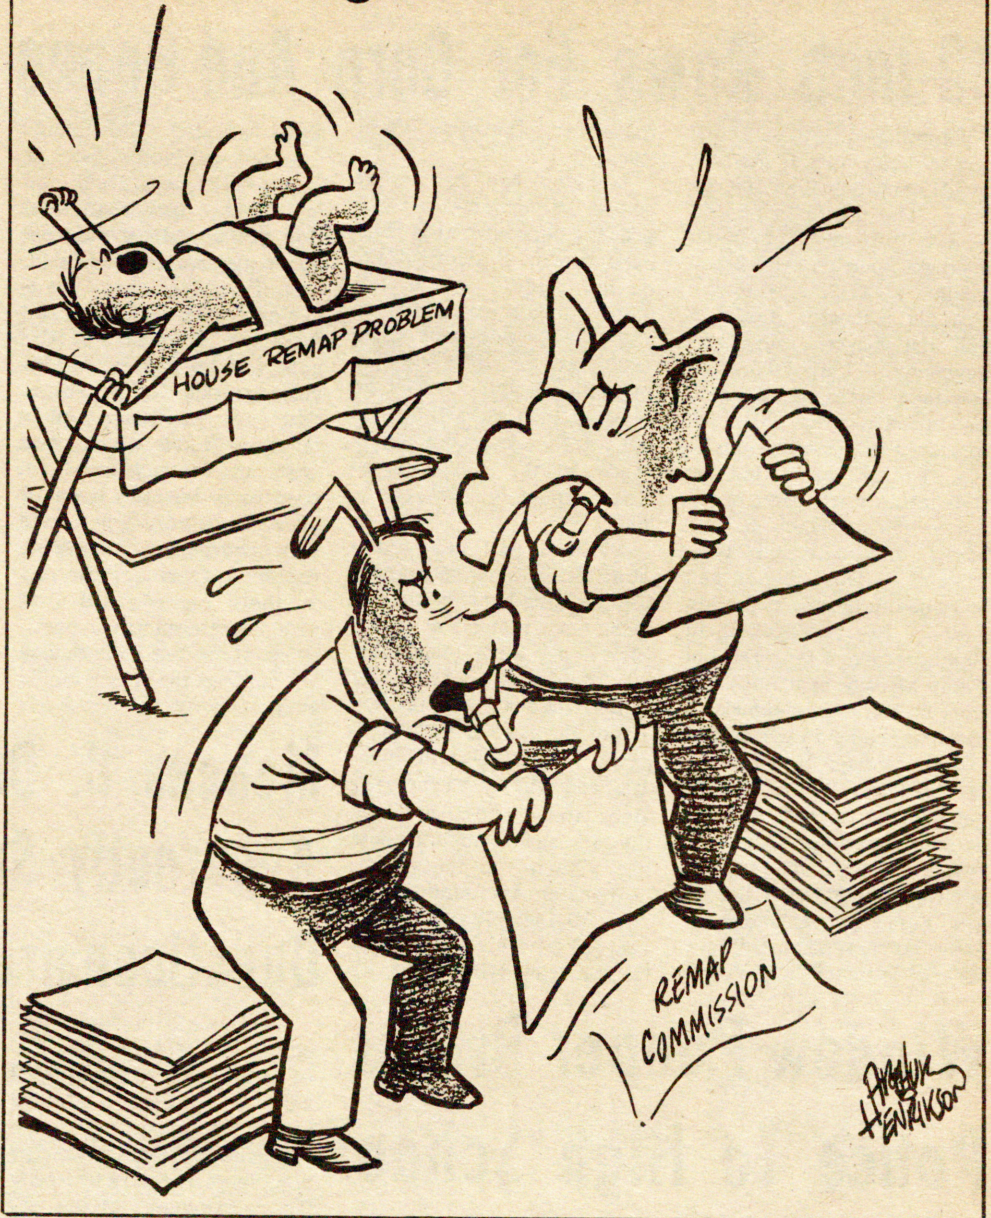

As the situation stands now no high school district can join the junior college set up unless it dissolves and becomes a part of the Joliet high school district. The other high schools aren't going to do that so the only thing to do would be to organize a junior college district and to have the Joliet junior college become a part of it.

Whether the people of the proposed district would vote for its formation is another question that only the voters can answer. Not everyone is in favor of setting up another taxing body. There are some who believe that the public should not be held responsible for providing education beyond the high school age, they feel that going to college is a problem for the prospective student and his parents to solve.

It will be interesting to see what will be done with this junior college district business.

It is our opinion that if we are to have junior colleges the state should arbitrarily set up the districts and finance and operate them on a state-wide basis. The state and federal people are going to say how the colleges are to be operated anyway so they might as well take the responsibility.

Urgent Business

BUSINESS & FINANCE

By Maurice P. Angland

The market analysts we see most often quoted in the market place, seem to be veering toward a more optimistic attitude than has been the case for the last several months.

As some of them are putting it, the least resistance in the market at this time, is on the up side.

The rail averages have long been the most sensitive of popular market averages. Analysts now point to the rail averages as showing more strength than they have for some months and that this strength might give the whole market an upward push.

Some of the long range analysts keep pointing out that the British pound is having difficulty in averting devaluation. Devaluation of the pound could very well have a depressing effect on the dollar. The situation in the British economy is reported to be creating uncertainties in world banking circles.

The situation in Viet Nam and defense spending, have added to the above uncertainties.

Our economic life always has its upward pressures and downward push with business men doing their best to follow the strongest pressures. At this time the pressures for rising indices in business activity, seem much stronger than downward pressures.

The air lines and TV makers are getting much favorable attention. Jet engines have cut airline operating costs. RCA is expected to spend about $50 million to increase its capacity to produce color television sets. Sales of color sets is reported as showing a gain of 65 per cent in 1965.

As Dow Theory Forecasts and other investment services have noted, desalting of sea water, so it can be productively used has intrigued science and industry, for a great many years.

The Department of Interior is spending about $12 million a year on desalinization work and the new budget calls for double this amount.

President Johnson has taken a special interest in the desalting research and activity. It is expected that this field will receive a continuing and heavier interest from our government.

The big problem is bringing the cost down from about $1 per thousand gallons of converted water, to around $0.35 per thousand gallons. In reducing costs in large desalting projects, there is generation of electricity which must be sold to reduce over-all costs.

There are quite a number of desalting installations in the middle east in which potable water must be available and costs of water are not controlling.

There are quite a number of firms which have considerable interest in desalting activity, but only a few firms have their main activity in this field.

A new desalting project using nuclear energy is currently under study in Los Angeles. This plant is designed to treat 150 million gallons per day and planned to have a fresh water cost of $0.35 per thousand gallons after selling its electricity production to southern California utilities.

Will Re-file Petition For Small Business Area

Because of a technicality dealing with the description of the area proposed for a small business service center at the northeast corner of Francis and Cedar roads, north of New Lenox, the petition of Matt N. Smallik for a B-1-a classification has been withdrawn.

It is understood that following a correction the petition will be re-submitted to the county zoning board of appeals. It had been approved at the original hearing and would have gone to the board of supervisors for final OK last week.

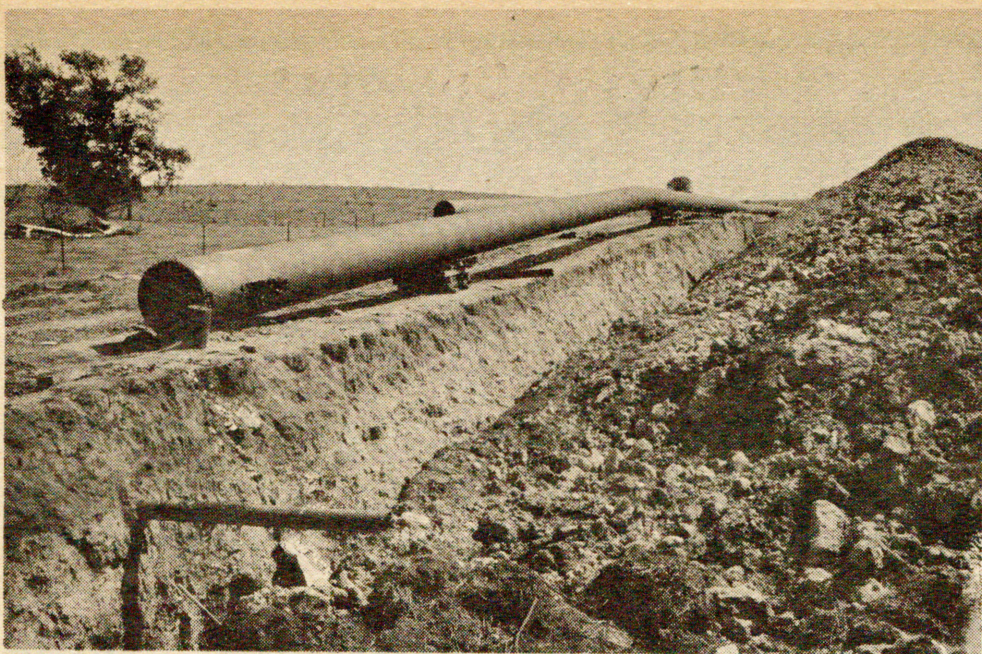

Dwight Egle, cashier of the New Lenox State bank, and Sheldon J. Hauck, Chicago attorney and son of Sheldon W. Hauck, New Lenox business man, are prepared to acquire the property for development of a small business center, it was related at the time Smallik's petition was approved.

The property had been classified as B-1 which would have accommodated practically any type of business. The purchasers want it under the new category for business, N-1-a. They were quoted as planning buildings to house various services. Under consideration, it was stated, are offices for doctors, dentists, possibly a drug store, dry cleaning, self-laundering and the like.

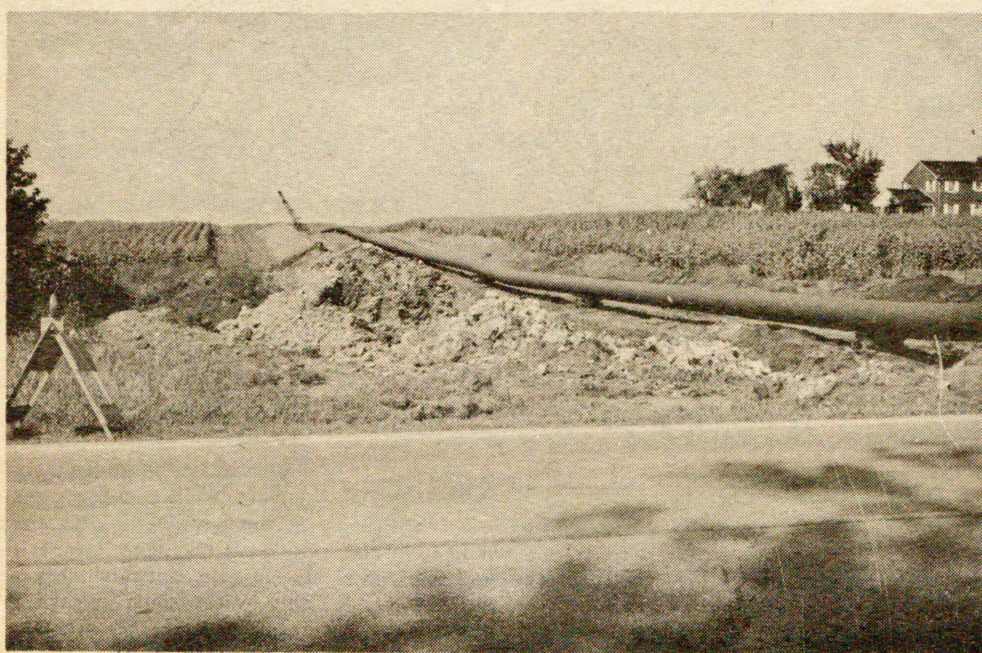

The proposed development is about a block north of the village limits and indications are that if the plan is carried thru the village board would be interested in annexing the area.

It was estimated that the annexation would bring in an additional $200 to $300 a month to the village in sales taxes.

MORE NATURAL GAS--big pipeline coming down from the north and heading for a connection with another heading east from Mazon in Grundy county. Crews are taking quite a swath thru the fields. First a roadway is cut thru and then come the machines that dig the trench to carry the pipeline. The section of pipe are first freed of rust so they shine inside and out and are then covered with pitch and wrappings before being put in the ground. These pictures were taken on U.S. 30 a short distance east of New Lenox. The one above is looking south from the highway, the one below was taken looking north. The east-west line that runs south of Frankfort is finished in this area.

Complete Changing Of Precinct Boundaries; New Voters Cards Out

Clara Hartley Woodard, the county clerk, reported that new voters cards for election districts that were altered or split are now being mailed to the voters of certain election districts in Channahon, Crete, DuPage, Frankfort, Homer, Lockport, Manhattan, Monee, New Lenox, Peotone, Troy and Wesley townships. The splitting and altering of these election districts were approved at the June meeting of the board of supervisors.

Within the next few days, the voters in these districts will receive a new voters registration card, a letter explaining the split of election districts, and a map of the voting precincts to verify residency within the boundaries.

If the recipient of such a letter does not reside within the boundary shown on said map, he is to contact the county clerk's office for a corrected listing and a new registration card. If the voter is within the boundary, he is to destroy his old voter's registration card and replace it with the new.

Mrs. Woodard emphasized that this applies only to those registered voters who receive the change notices. Many precincts were not changed.

There will now be 187 election districts in Will county.

Thirty changes in boundaries and additions were approved this summer at the June board meeting. New polling places will be established, and published later.

The first election when the changes will be effective and new voting districts will be used will be the primary of June, 1966. (The state legislature has changed the time for state primaries from April to June.

The board accorded the committee and Mrs. Woodard praise for the "outstanding job" of redistricting.

The greatest change was in Joliet township where there are now 85 instead of 74 precincts, an increase of 11. Other increases are: four in Lockport, three in New Lenox, two in Frankfort and Plainfield; One new precinct in each of the following: DuPage, Channahon, Homer, Manhattan, Monee, Peotone, Troy and Wesley. While there are no additions to Crete township, boundaries have been changed in two precincts. Altogether there are 31 alterations of boundary districts outside of Joliet.

The redistricting was done to provide more even distribution of potential voter participation and thus distribute the work load of election judges.

NFO To Hold Area Meeting At LaSalle

Eugene Gaskin, president of Will County NFO, (National Farm Organization) said that information meetings have been set up in five county areas throughout the entire NFO organized territory. The membership will be brought up to date on NFO's bargaining efforts.

Will County NFO members will be attending the area meeting at the Kaskaskia hotel, LaSalle, Aug. 28, at 8 p.m.

"NFO meat marketing arrangements whereby NFO members can sell together, have been a major factor in the price rise of hogs and cattle because the volume sales made by members have brought new and keen competition to livestock buying," Gaskin stated.

A new NFO grain program will be announced and discussed and plans to use the dairy bargaining power developed by NFO to raise the price of milk at the farm level will also be disclosed.

A national NFO official will be present to conduct the meeting. A thorough question and answer period will be held.

"I have reason to believe," said Gaskin, "That when the NFO program becomes effective in full, there will be no need for government agricultural programs with little or no needed raise in consumer prices. Farmers buying power will be restored and all segments of the economy will be benefited."

Ann Ray, Alan Pius Wed At Double Ring Ceremony

At a 7:30 o'clock candle-light ceremony the evening of August 14 in the St. Paul Lutheran church, Villa Park, Miss Ann P. Ray became the bride of Alan Pius.

Rev. Wayne Henderson officiated at the double ring ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom V. Ray, 3429 S.W. 31st, Des Moines, Ia and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pius, 116 W. Gum st., New Lenox.

Guest vocalist was Clayton Sears. Escorted by her father to an altar enhanced by baskets of ferns and white glads and pom poms, the bride wore a fingertip french illusion veil with a crown of aurora borealis sequins and pearls. Her floor length gown of white organza was appliqued with alencon lace. She carried a semi-crescent of white snowdrift mums and roses, interspersed with stephanotis.

Miss Linda Ray attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a floor length, empire waist yellow linen gown with olive velvet, narrow cummerbund. She carried a basket of yellow and bronze daisies.

Dressed identically with Miss Ray were the bridesmaids, Miss Pamela Plus, sister of the groom, Miss Sally Opperman and Miss Lynn Hoddinott.

Teresa Ray, cousin of the bride, attended as flower girl, wearing a white organza ankle length dress. She carried a miniature basket of yellow and bronze daisies.

Dave Donaldson attended as best man and ushers were Peter Jeute, Sherman Jarol and Jerry Plus, cousin of the groom.

A reception was held in the church parlor. Mrs. Ray, mother of the bride, greeted

Back After Trip To Central America

Mark Muehler, of Mokena, is home again -- briefly -- after an 8,000-mile trek that took him and two of his roommates at Denver university thru Central America.

He is home briefly because next month he will go Southern Illinois university as a student.

David Myers and Wayne Stiefvater, and Mueller began their journey at Mexico City, going to Guatemala City, in Guatemala where they stayed two days.

Not having too much money they budgeted themselves to $3 or $4 a day, and found they could do it by staying in a boarding house. Thus they had a place to sleep, a place to eat and a community bath within this price range.

Tours included visit to native shops, the palace of the president, and a sidetrip to Lake Atitlan, a volcanic lake.

They also stopped at Chichicastango, renowned as a market place. The Maxwell Street of Guatemala, some call it. The natives bring their wares to the market there two days a week, Muehler said. Muehler, who has taken Spanish in school, was the interpreter for his group.

The trio reached Salvador, capital of San Salvador on the Fourth of July, and then went on to the port city of La Libertad.

guests wearing a yellow brocade, satin on linen, matching accessories and a yellow rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Pius, wore a yellow satin gown, matching accessories and a yellow rose corsage.

Following a trip thru the mountain states, the newlyweds are now residing at Denver, Colorado.

After a day at Tegucigalpa, capital of Honduras, the three went to Magra, capital of Nicaragua. At the border between the two countries they met four musicians, three from Guatemala and one from Mexico. They were traveling on a restricted budget too as they were earning their way by playing in Protestant churches in a land where most of the churches are Roman Catholic.

At San Jose, capital of Costa Rica, they went to the U.S. Embassy for sight-seeing suggestions. There they met a Mexican who was a sales engineer for the Cessna Aircraft Corporation. His territory covered the Latin American countries. Later they arranged with him to fly them to Panama City at no greater cost than bus tickets would have been.

The trio spent three weeks in Panama. One of their interesting side trips there was a five day tour of the San Blas Islands aboard a banana boat. The boat, owned and maintained by the islanders delivers mail, sells bananas to them and in turn purchases coconuts. Coconuts are bought for a penny each. Since the boat is equipped with refrigeration equipment it also has ice cream and pop for sale -- a sort of motorized banana split. They stopped at 20 ports in the five days.

ted the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kluth of Lincoln Estates, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Copp Sr.

Escorted by her father to an altar decorated with white gladiolus and yellow mums, the bride wore a white silk shantung sheath, chapel length. Her train was bordered in white applique, applique and border adorned the standaway scoop neck collar and the elbow length sleeves. Her gloves were elbow length. She carried three white orchids with purple throat and stephanotis. The heart shape necklace with diamond was a gift of the groom. Her gown designed by Mrs. Lange of Twin Oaks.

Guest soloist Miss Francis Klinger, was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Griffen.

Miss Dorothy Kluth attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a green linen floor length a-line. The lowered waist was accentuated by satin green tubing which formed a bow in the back.

Dressed identically with Miss Kluth was the bridesmaid, Mrs. Carole Larcher.

Ring bearer was Philip "Buddy" Ortel Jr., 5 year old cousin of the bride.

Robert Anthony attended as best man and ushers were William Rose and Daniel Simler.

Guests were greeted by the newlyweds at a reception at Silver Lake Country Club, Orland Park. For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Kluth wore a blue silk linen sheath with blue accessories. Mrs. Copp, mother of the bridegroom, chose a blue chiffon sheath with matching accessories.

Honored guests were the grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. Nora Gill and Mrs. Agnes Kluth.

A three day honeymoon was spent at 50th on the Lake, Chicago. The newlyweds are now residing at Riverdale, Ill.

The groom is employed at Underwriter Continental Assurance.

Want Same
Auto License?

Secretary of State Paul Powell reminds motorists who desire to retain their present license plate numbers that the Illinois General Assembly changed the effective reassignment dates to the period beginning Sept. 1 to Sept. 30. Previously the dates were Oct. 1 to Oct. 30. The application must include a request for a reassignment of their numbers. Under the provisions of the Motor Vehicle Law, every natural person has the right to retain his number from year to year, provided he applies before Sept. 30. There is no additional fee required for this service.

Secretary of State Paul Powell also said that applicants for the 1966 motor vehicle registrations, will be available on or about Aug. 27, through the usual outlets -- currency exchanges, automobile dealers, notaries public, banks, newspaper offices and the three Cook county motor vehicle facilities in Chicago.

The general assembly also amended the law to increase the license plate fee fifty cents. This increase is to provide for the reauthorization of the 1966 license plates.

The Summit Hill Boy Scout troop, No. 10, returned home from a week's campout at Lake Arbutus near Black River Falls, Wis.

A total of eight boys took the trip including: Gene Rha, Steve Watkins, Joe Arcuri, Jim Rochelle, Brian Cutler, Paul Dickerson, Butch Biddle and Mike Watkins.

Of these boys five took a side jaunt up to Spooner lake for extra fishing. The fishing was good enough to provide two fish meals for all the boys and the adult chaperones and the scoutmaster and his family. The fishing generally took up a large portion of the boys time with hiking and swimming also filling out their leisure time.

Apologies to all for not picking up the newspapers by the Boy Scouts, there were some crossed wires on the matter. The newspapers will be picked up on the first Saturday in September.

The Cadette Girl Scouts are in the midst of a campout at the Indiana State Dunes park from Aug. 25 through Aug. 28. At this writing there were seven girls planning on attending with Mrs. Ruth Burt assisting Mrs. Markowski as Cadette leader and Mrs. Betty Berovanovic, a worker with the Red Cross safety committee who will act as lifesaver for the trip.

Any boys between the ages of nine and twelve who would be interested in playing football this fall, may contact Emery Mann at 479-5102 for further information.

The First Nighters meeting, originally scheduled for Thursday evening, Sept. 2, has been re-scheduled for Sept. 9. It will still be held at the home of Mrs. Rose Menzer on Oak Street.

A reminder that the first meeting of the new term for the baseball league will be held at the school on Sept. 20 at 8 p.m. instead of September 6.

A disappointing turnout greeted the evening of bowling for the boys of the baseball league and their families with only about one-half of the boys coming out for the affair.

A variety of bowling styles were in evidence with the youngest brothers and sisters and Moms and Dads all giving it the old college try. The alleys may never be the same after the little ones method of bowling by throwing the ball instead of setting it down. We may not be experts, but we sure have fun.

All boys from the baseball league who are planning on attending the Chicago White Sox Baseball Game this Saturday, are asked to meet at the baseball field in full uniform at 10 a.m. There will be a bus provided to take the boys and to return them afterwards.

The William O'Neill family from Oak Street spent a week's vacation at Bass lake in Indiana with another couple.

The kindergarten class made up of youngsters from Arbury Hills will have their class begin on Sept. 7. One-half of the class will begin on Sept. 7 and 8 with their "get acquainted days" and the other one-half will have their "get acquainted days" on Sept. 9-10. Classes will begin their regular 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon schedule on Monday morning, Sept. 13.

There will be bus transportation available. Please contact Mrs. Richard Hendrickson, the president of the Kindergarten Organization, for further information on bus schedule and cost for the bus.

maintenance of way department of the Norfolk and Western railroad, was seriously burned when the radiator blew up on the motor car while he was patrolling the tracks three miles south of Reddick. Mr. Tarrant covered his face with his hands protecting his eyes, but suffered second and third degree burns over 30% of the upper part of his body. He was alone at the time of the accident, and had to push the car three miles into town for help. He was taken to a doctor first and then to St. James hospital at Pontiac, where he is confined in room 205, and possibly will be there for several weeks yet. It is expected skin graft will be necessary.

On Wednesday, Sept. 1 starting at 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. there will be a sale of latest fall and winter hats in the Fellowship hall at the New Lenox Methodist church. All the latest styles will be available and there will be fun and food for everyone. The sale is being sponsored by the Martha Circle of the WSCS.

Volunteer marchers in the New Lenox multiple sclerosis drive that was held here yesterday, were: Bonnie Bell, Faye Dunn, Candy Tingley, Linda Tatro, Lori Neilis, Delores Sims, Jean Cagwin, Michele Dranchak, Sandy Phillips, Beth Avon, Diane Shreffler, Sandy Aldridge, Nancy Venkus and Rita Chamberlin.

Miss Ann Chamberlin, 125 Hickory street, was general chairman of the drive here this year.

Sgt. and Mrs. Willard Beard of Caswell, Me., and their children David, Jeff, and Patti Ann, stopped here this past week for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tarrant and family, enroute to their new home in Wisconsin, at an air force base, where Sgt. Beard has been transferred. Mrs. Beard is the former Betty Ann Tarrant.

PFC Thomas Hartung has returned to his base at Fort Riley, Kans. after spending the week-end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hartung and Pamela. He came home for the wedding of his cousin, Arlan Schram, to Miss Jill Knowles.

The women of Grace Episcopal church met at the home of Mrs. Doris Cooper for their August meeting.

Plans were formulated and committee chairmen appointed for the fall card party with a tentative date set for October 20.

The Womans Guild donated $100 to the building fund of the church.

The Vestry was presented with $300.55, one half of the proceeds from the rummage sale held in July.

It was announced that a deanery meeting will be held Oct. 14 at St. John's in Flossmore.

In the near future a "Quiet Day" for the women of the Joliet Deanery will be held in Grace church here with the Womans Guild as hostess.

After the close of the business meeting, Dessert-coffee was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Marie Penn, co-hostess.

The September meeting of the Woman's Guild of Grace Episcopal church will be held the evening of Sept. 9 in the home of Mrs. Warren Stoneberger, 158 Wallace st., New Lenox.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Otis and Arlene, Wood st., had as their guests over the past week-end, Mr. Otis' cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Stripp from Bishop, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. William Heidrich, Ogden road, entertained at a family reunion Sunday, honoring Mrs. Heidrich's cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Stripp of Bishop, Calif., who were visiting here for a few days. A picnic dinner was served on the lawn at five o'clock and guests were:

Mr. and Mrs. Jon Otis and family of Ottawa, Thomas Otis of Ottawa, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. William Kirk and family of Beecher; Misses Catherine and Barbara DeGraph, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cunningham and daughter of Harvey; Mr. and Mrs. T. Kirk Otis and Arlene, Mr. and Mrs. William Heidrich of New Lenox, and the Stripp from California.

While in New Lenox, Mr. and Mrs. Stripp also visited with Mrs. Stripp's uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Kodat on Francis road.

"The Decorator Showcase" Will Welcome Public To Its Opening

Noel E. Smith, owner-operator of The Decorator Showcase, announced the date of Sept. 1 as the day his new firm will open its doors to the public.

The new furniture company is located in the building that formerly housed the IGA Foodliner in the Orland Shopping Plaza at Orland Park. The building has been modified, remodeled and completely redecorated. Consisting of some 7200 square feet, the Decorator Showcase thus becomes the largest home furnishings store in the area. The store will devote large areas to the display of carpeting and draperies as well as the better qualities of living room, bedroom, dining room and family room furnishings.

Mr. Smith is no stranger to the suburban area. In the past, he has spoken before many of the Palos and Orland women's clubs, specializing in color co-ordinating and carpeting. He has also taught a complete interior decorating course at Carl Sandburg high school as part of the schools adult evening class program.

Mr. Smith operated a local furniture store for the past two years and with his decorating knowledge and experience, furnished many of the fine homes in the Orland, Palos, Tinley, Frankfort and Mokena areas. Many of his decorating accounts have come from the Homewood-Flossmore, Park Forrest areas on the east, and the Downers Grove, Naperville and Oak Brook areas to the north. And as far south as Kankakee.

After studies at the University of Miami and a subsequent tour of duty with the U.S. Marines, Mr. Smith acquired a position with Turk Furniture at Kankakee and in the past eleven years has been on the staffs of John M. Smyth's and City Furniture.

The new store has a department devoted to custom-made and customized ready-made draperies, bedspreads and slip covers. To co-ordinate and handle this department, Mrs. Marie Land of Palos Heights has been named manager. Mrs. Land has over nine years experience in this field and is an authority in technique and color.

Active in Chamber of Commerce affairs, Mr. Smith is sponsoring this years Hole-In-One contest in the annual Orland Park Chamber Of Commerce's Golf outing and dinner-dance. The Decorator Showcase will award $3500 worth of fine home furnishings to anyone shooting a hole-in-one during the Commerce outing on Sept. 24. The value of the award has been registered and insured for authenticity. Mr. Smith commented, "Strange as it may seem, I sincerely hope someone can shoot a hole-in-one. That would be the best publicity The Decorator Showcase could possibly get. I am working with my insurance company now in hopes we can make all the short holes applicable."

Lewis College Meets Educational Needs

The Lewis College campus of 1970, encompassing a dramatic 10 million-dollar development program, is designed to adequately serve the demands for higher education in the Chicago-Lockport - Joliet community. Within the span of fifteen years, since Lewis College began a four-year college of arts and sciences, enrollment has climbed from 110 to the current total enrollment of 1,100.

By 1970, projected enrollment will be 1,600 full-time students. The campus will also accommodate increased Technical Institute students and evening division college students. The building and faculty provisions for the campus of 1970 are aimed at this figure.

In 1960, the Christian Brothers assumed the direction and administration of Lewis College. Under the guidance of Brother L. Paul, F.S.C., President of Lewis College, an expansion program was adopted which has, thus far, included approximately 3 million dollars in new and improved facilities.

A major portion of this expenditure produced a unique ceremony in June, 1964, when three major buildings were dedicated simultaneously. Since that time an additional major facility has been completed and dedicated; the Science Building. It contains classroom and instructional laboratories for the natural and physical sciences, one of the most modern language laboratories, and a data processing center, housing a Honeywell #200 Computer. This is the first Honeywell #200 to be installed in any college in the country. The building was dedicated on April 4, 1965.

In July of 1965, Lewis College began construction of a $130,000 Total Energy Plant. This building, scheduled for completion in October, is the first building of the campus of 1970 program. It will furnish heat, power, light, and electricity to the total campus and was designed with the help of the Northern Illinois Gas Company. It is a natural gas system.

Buildings alone, however, cannot fully meet the needs of our growing community. Recognizing this, Brother Louis De LaSalle, past Vice President for Academic Affairs, and the faculty members of Lewis College, devoted considerable time, talent, and research in developing a new curricular structure instituted in September of 1965. This modern curriculum permits concentrated study in four units per semester, rather than superficial coverage of six or seven courses.

With the strong, modern curriculum and the expanded facilities, Lewis College is attempting to provide the finest education possible to the residents of this area; however, to truly confront the demands of 1970 with its increased numbers of students and new and evolving kinds of community services, additional expansion and modernization must be realized.

The campus of 1970 includes: a learning resources center (Library), a theatre-arts building, a new academic building, additional faculty residence halls, an additional residence halls complex for students and a center for Christian Brothers activities, including the national secretariat, a novitiate, and a scholasticate. More faculty members will be needed, and the development program includes increased faculty salaries for the present staff and additional monies to attract and retain the additional teachers. Lewis College is striving to meet these needs in order to provide higher education to each and every qualified young man seeking it in our community.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

Lewis College offers 20 freshman academic scholarships per year, athletic aid, and financial plans and upperclass awards. Additional financial assistance is supplied by federal, state and private sources.

ACCREDITATION

Lewis College is a member of and recognized by the North Central Association of colleges and secondary schools as a degree granting institution. It is a member of the American Council on Education and the Association of American Colleges. It is also affiliated with the Catholic University. The College conducts a program approved by the State Teachers Certification Board for certification in the State of Illinois.

St. Procopius College Begins 79th Year Sept. 15

The doors of St. Procopius College will open to begin the 79th school year on Wednesday, Sept. 15. On that day the annual votive Mass of the Holy Spirit will be offered and the opening assembly will introduce the students to the new school year, a new president, and two new deans.

The Rev. Roman S. Gallardi, O.S.B., former dean of academic affairs, succeeds the Rt. Rev. Daniel W. Kucera, O.S.B., as president of the college. The Rev. Virgil J. Trelo, O.S.B., has moved up from dean of student affairs to dean of academic affairs and is succeeded by the Rev. Thomas J. Havlik, O.S.B., as dean of student affairs.

This year will see the finalization of plans for the new fine arts building. The faculty committee has completed its study and has produced the principles which will regulate the size and function of the theater-auditorium, the lab-theater, music, and graphic arts departments.

As with all college buildings and functions, the fine arts building is intended to serve, not only the college, but the surrounding community, as well. Despite the fact that the theatrical and symphonic performances now have to be given in a combination gym-theater, St. Procopius College Productions has presented 46 outstanding productions, attracting over 7,000 patrons annually, with combined casts of students and people from the nearby areas. The symphony orchestra and the large chorus which presents an annual concert, as well as playing and singing in the productions, also are comprised of students and community residents. A recent innovation is the junior symphony orchestra with children of grade school and early teen ages.

St. Procopius is a community college in the real sense of the word with 80 per cent of the students, both commuters and residents, coming from within a 30-mile radius. It also serves not only the youth of the area but the adults, as well.

With the summer and evening courses, a student may get an early start on his college career by completing the first two years with a coordinated program of these sessions.

The new, modern library, housing 65,000 volumes, features a number of facilities which extend the college's services to the community.

These include an audiovisual auditorium with a seating capacity of 100, a microfilm room, a language laboratory, the Slav Culture Center, seminar rooms, as well as a rare book room which shelters manuscripts, works of art, and one of the largest collections of Lincolniana in Illinois, containing over 6,000 items.

Rather unusual for a small college, an observatory, developed to round out the rapidly expanding science program at the college, contains a Springfield reflector telescope which is believed to be one of the largest instruments of its type, with a focal length of 124 inches, weighing over 3/4 of a ton. Membership in the Astronomy Club is open to all who are interested.

Among the notable developments to come out of the St. Procopius College Science laboratories are:

1. A vibrating quartz electrometer which accurately measures electricity to the minute particle of ONE THOUSANDTH OF A MILLIONTH OF A MILLIONTH of the current in a 100 watt light bulb. This instrument is now being manufactured commercially.

2. A muscle equivalent ionization chamber which has been included in the various U. S. space flights, especially the Mariner I and II, which measures background radiations due to terrestrial and extra-terrestrial radiations.

The recently organized Institute for Management will begin its second trimester on Sept. 14 with a class in Industrial Psychology and Sept. 16 with a class in Effective Speech. This is a four-year certificate program for middle managers and is sponsored currently by 34 companies sending employees to the classes.

With a total enrollment of more than 800, St. Procopius College will maintain a student-teacher ratio of 10-1. Thirty-two of the faculty members have Ph. D. degrees and thirty-one have masters degrees, some of whom are continuing work toward their Ph. D. degrees.

St. Procopius College is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the Illinois State Department of Public Instruction. The college is a member of the American Council on Education, National Catholic Educational Association, National Education Association, Association of American Colleges and the National Commission on Accrediting.

Britannica Academy Presents New Dimensions In Learning

Britannica Academy in Chicago is the first high school in the world where every subject is taught by the new programmed learning method. This innovation in itself has enabled the Academy to introduce a wide variety of progressive educational changes so startling and so effective that they are attracting world-wide attention.

Upon entering the Academy, a visitor's first impression is of a school whose environment incorporates all of the latest thinking in modern design -- wall to wall carpeting, acoustictile, a pastel mix and match color scheme, air conditioning, panelled walls -- indeed a decor and feeling of elegance one would expect to find in a private club but not in a high school. Only 40 per cent of the Academy's space is made up of fixed classrooms. Five thousand square feet of its space is devoted to student lounges, open study areas, individual study carrels and counselling stations. Everything about this school is friendly and inviting.

The innovations, however, extend far beyond the architectural design of the school and its environmental warmth. The Academy is the first completely, ungraded school. It is ungraded vertically -- no freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors. It is also ungraded horizontally -- there are no fixed terms, semesters, or quarters. A student may start at any time, beginning his study with those courses he should start with to complete his high school education.

Because every Britannica Academy course is programmed, each student proceeds at his best pace. Thus, slow learners are not discouraged and fast learners are not bored. Each student moves ahead as rapidly as he can, with mastery the sole criterion of his progress. Britannica Academy is the first totally programmed self-pacing, start any time, finish any time, school in the world.

A student is required to pass about a dozen tests -- one at the end of each unit of study -- before he is eligible to take a final course examination. If he fails to pass any of his unit tests -- indeed if he makes any mistakes -- he is not permitted to go on until his difficulty has been diagnosed and his misunderstanding corrected. Gifted, well motivated students can push ahead as rapidly as they can. Such students may finish a traditional full year Algebra course in as little as two months.

Individual tutoring is an important feature of the Academy. Academy teachers do not lecture as in ordinary schools; rather they diagnose, trouble shoot, help students when and where they are in difficulty. Because of this unique instructional situation, Britannica Academy teachers are able to provide enrichment opportunities which are not normally present in a traditional school. (These include the rich resources of Encyclopaedia Britannica Films, Encyclopaedia Britannica Press, Comptons, Great Books, G. and C. Merriam Company and Encyclopaedia Britannica itself.)

Perhaps one of the most significant innovations programmed instruction has made possible at the Academy is the simultaneous teaching of more than one subject by a single teacher in one study area. For example, as many as eight different math subjects, covering the whole range of high school mathematics can be taught at once in the same class area by one teacher with no two students normally at the same point in their learning.

In a typical situation, Student A may be beginning Algebra I; seated nearby student B is half way through Plane Geometry; in the next row student C is doing remedial work in basic math. Even when five or 10 students are all studying the same course, no two are likely to be at the same point in their learning. As students work on their own, teachers are able to give individual attention to those who need help when they need it.

The primary concern of the Academy is for those who need a "second chance" to finish high school --

--students who have fallen behind because of illness or other circumstances beyond their control;

--students who must work as well as attend school;

--students who have been unable to master indispensable reading, writing or mathematical skills;

--students who have been unable to adapt to the requirements of larger schools;

--all students who have left school before earning their diplomas and now regret it.

We believe these students -- dropouts and potential dropouts -- deserve a "second chance." We know that most of them are intelligent enough to finish high school -- that many are capable of earning college degrees. We know, too, that unless they are given a "second chance" their vocational and social opportunities will be extremely limited.

Non high school graduates currently make up a staggering 63 percent of the unemployed, and male unemployment is three times greater for those without diplomas than for high school graduates.

Latest statistics show that high school graduates, on an average, earn $120,000 more in their working lifetimes than those who do not have a high school education.

Britannica Academy does not compete with the public and parochial school sys-

North Central College Maintains Tradition Of Academic Excellence

North Central College is a four-year, co-educational, privately endowed, liberal arts school in neighboring Naperville. Founded in 1861, the college has maintained a long tradition of academic excellence in the environment of the small college campus. It is accredited by the North Central Association of Schools of Music. Tuition, fees, room and board total $2,000 for the academic year beginning in September. Total for non-resident students is $1,200.

The college offers majors in 22 departments leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Music and Bachelor of Music Education.

Students are selected on the basis of intellectual ability, academic achievement and desirable personal qualities. They must also submit satisfactory scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test for the College Entrance Examination Board.

An opportunity for special directed study, independent study or travel and study is provided by the unique Mid-Winter Study and Research Term during the month of January. Selected students are given the opportunity to take part in this program in a non-graded situation.

The College also provides an extensive program of athletics and a wide variety of extra-curricular activities. The Special Events Series brings outstanding entertainers and cultural programs to the campus. The Student Activities program also transports students to Chicago to attend performances and events of many kinds as a regular part of their regular education.

Evening Division and Summer School programs are also available.

Registration for the Evening Division classes of the fall semester will be held Tuesday, Sept. 7, 7 to 9:30 p.m., in the College and Seminary Library on the campus. Courses will be offered in 13 of the departments. Catalogs are available upon request. They may be obtained by writing the Admissions Office at the college or telephoning ELmwood 5-5500, ext. 40.

LEWIS COLLEGE

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

Lewis College offers 20 freshman academic scholarships per year, athletic aid, and financial plans and upperclass awards. Additional financial assistance is supplied by federal, state, and private sources.

ACCREDITATION

Lewis College is a member of and recognized by the North Central Association of colleges and secondary schools as a degree granting institution. It is a member of the American Council on Education and the Association of American Colleges. It is also affiliated with the Catholic University. The College conducts a program approved by the State Teachers Certification Board for certification in the State of Illinois and is approved by the Veterans Administration. Lewis College holds membership in the National Catholic Education Association and the National Education Association.

NEW CURRICULUM

A full-time student takes four courses per semester, with courses generally meeting four hours per week, instead of the traditional curricular structure with its six or more courses per semester. Under the new program, 32 courses are required for graduation from Lewis College.

ACADEMIC INFORMATION

At present, Lewis College confers the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science with major areas of concentration in Accounting, Biology, Chemistry, Economics, English, History, Management, Marketing, Mathematics, Philosophy, Political Science, and Psychology.

TECHNICAL

LEWIS TECHNICAL INSTITUTE

Lewis College conducts a Technical Institute which is situated on the campus. It is approved by the Federal Aviation Authority and is offered to students seeking sound vocational and technical education in the aviation industry. The Lewis Technical Institute operates a 12-month program in aviation power plant and air frame mechanics. This vigorous program is tailored for those high school graduates seeking mechanic and technician positions in aviation. Students are admitted in classes of approximately 35, three times per year: October 1st, February 1st, and June 1st (approximately).

Patricia Stevens School Makes Rapid Strides

"May 1942 - at the age of 28 with $82 in her purse Miss Stevens leased a cubicle at 30 W. Washington St. and had her name painted on the door. She paid one month's rent ($35), ordered 1,000 fancy letterheads and proclaimed, in a newspaper advertisement, that she was now a modeling school.

The rest is pure Horatio Alger with a feminine twist. The first week she enrolled two students. By the end of the first month she had enrolled 20 girls, at $25 a head, studying to be models in 12 lessons. By fall there were so many would-be cover girls around that she was obliged to triple her space.

"Miss Stevens decided to add a 'charm' course to her modeling school curriculum. 'Everyone can't be a model,' she told prospective students, 'but nearly everyone can be charming.'

"The results were only a little short of sensational. In 1945 Miss Stevens had to open branches. . . ."

The above is part of an

Lewis College Meets Educational Needs

article that appeared in the Chicago Sun, Sunday, June 1, 1945.

Now 20 years later an average of 3,000 girls and women enroll each year in the Patricia Stevens Career College and Finishing School at 22 W. Madison St.

Of those who enroll in the college courses (which are approved by the board of education) about 750 take Executive Business Machines and Secretarial courses, 300 Airline Training and 400 Fashion Merchandising. These students must be high school graduates.

The balance enroll in the Finishing School which includes all programs in modeling and self-improvement.

Patricia Stevens College and Finishing School began its 25th year, May 18th. Today it is considered the most beautiful school of its kind, but more meaningful is the fact that every recent June graduate of the college (except two who wanted to go on vacation first) were placed; plus the evaluation of knowledgeable executives who made these recent comments: "I wish I'd invented it." "New York has Tobe' Coburn, Chicago has Patricia Stevens."

Presents New Dimensions In Learning

(Continued From Page 14) tems, which afford commendable high school education for the vast majority. However, the Academy's curriculum and standards of achievement parallel those of other schools. The Academy does not accept students younger than sixteen. Britannica Academy is a special school for special students.

Academy students are limited to a maximum of three subjects at a time and are required to attend school only three mornings or evenings each week. Students who must work find that this policy, for the first time, makes it possible to complete high school.

Britannica Academy is an open society school. Need and seriousness of purpose - NOT religion, creed, color, sex or national origin - are the criteria for enrollment. Students are young adults 16 years of age and older who are treated as adults and who are expected to behave like adults. There are no published rules of conduct. Despite this lack of regimentation, disciplinary problems have been virtually non-existent.

Midlothian, Illinois Phone FU 9-0600

My dear Friends:
During the month of August we celebrate our 5th anniversary as a Chevrolet dealer in this community.
Our customers, or better yet our friends, have been most generous in placing their trust with us for their automotive needs and service. To them I say "Thank you".
To all my employees, also most generous of their time and efforts, and maintaining an atmosphere of dignity and honor. To them I say "Thank you".
To Chevrolet Motor Division for their engineering and design, giving us the product that enables us to continue as the recipient of our customer's trust. To them I say "Thank you".
Our success is owed to many!
Our future success will be owed to many!
To all, I say "Thank you".

With fondest regards, I remain,
Very truly yours,
